25X1 11. [redacted] - PLC) Sam Goldberg, State Department, called and sought our general guidance as to what recommendations he should make to Secretary Kissinger, who has been asked to appear before the House Armed Services Committee on 21 January. The hearing was set up before the recent allegations against the Agency resulting from the Hersh article, but he felt that the subject might very well come up. Goldberg felt at a loss to advise Secretary Kissinger on these matters since his office does not involve itself in the Secretary's responsibilities as National Security adviser. I told Goldberg that the Director would be testifying before Senate committees next week and that we would keep his interests in mind, but there was nothing specific that we could suggest at this time.

20. [redacted] - LLM) Bob Hull, State Department, called to discuss the overpayment of annuities problem indicating that State will probably seek remedial legislation in the upcoming Congress as part of the Omnibus Foreign Service Retirement Act amendments and that any action regarding the overpayment would be held in abeyance until enactment which he fully expects will not occur until sometime late in the first or second session. I said I thought we would probably stay in lockstep with them on this and we agreed to keep each other advised.

25X1 [redacted] OGC, was advised.
